

Ameer Steven-Jorg Hohlfeld is the coordinator of Cochrane Africa, a network of four hubs situated across the sub-Saharan African region. He conducts systematic reviews and teaches evidence-based health care at Stellenbosch University and the University of Cape Town. Furthermore, Ameer recently joined the Pan African Clinical Trials Registry team based at Cochrane South Africa.

Ameer obtained a Master's degree in Public Health specializing in epidemiology at the University of Cape Town. Whilst also working in the public service (Department of Health) of the Western Cape, from 2010 until April 2016 as a physiotherapist. His experience with working in the public health sector has given him the chance to work as a Street level bureaucrat with marginalised communities. Thus, giving him a basic understanding of the needs of both patients and clinicians in the public sector.